LOG HOUSE HISTORY

The Dileo family & the Log House Restaurant staff welcome you!

Established in 1972 by Mary and Joe Dileo, the Log House Restaurant was constructed from Vermont white cedar logs, hauled from Vermont and built on site by the late, Bob Parsons, several family members and friends and was completed in 1973. Most of the paneling is milled white cedar and when they ran out of that, they used pine.

1973

There have been several additions to the building over the years as our clientele has increased giving us about 4,800 square feet of space with many seating options: counter, booth, table, back porch, window seating, take out, catering and banquet dining for up to 100 persons. It's a big spread but, we try to keep it feeling cozy, "home style" and family friendly from our walls to our wait staff, our appetizers through our desserts and at family affordable prices. We have a big family too!

If there is anything you aren't satisfied with, please let us know immediately so we may be of assistance. If you are happy, we want to know about that too!

Mary and Joe are retired now, they only work about 40 hours a week...you will find Mary greeting and seating folks at the front and baking all your fresh desserts and the Sergeant Major, Joe is still giving orders from the side lines. The Log House Restaurant is now owned and managed by their sons, Gary, Joe Jr. and Paul with a sprinkle of family and friends working as employees for good measure.

If you want to know more history about this place and how Joe got into the restaurant business, grab a seat at the end of the counter and "set a spell". You'll hear the full story straight from the "horse's mouth".

THE VALLEY DINER

JOE'S DREAM...

In 1958, Joe Dileo, Sr. bought and tore down the Brookside Restaurant and replaced it with The Valley Diner. It was open 24 hours daily for ten years. Some of the old diner was crushed and buried in the front parking lot.
